Claims

What is claimed is:

23. An extremity-attachable device for storing and discharging skin treatment material, said device comprising in combination:

- (a) a reservoir containing said skin treatment material;
- (b) squeeze actuation means;
- (c) dispensing outlet means;
- (d) extremity attachment means;
- (d) leakage prevention means,

said device capable of releasing an amount of said skin treatment material through said dispensing outlet means when said actuation means is used and said leakage prevention means prohibiting the unintended leakage of said skin treatment material.

24. A device as recited in claim 23 wherein said reservoir comprises a deformable chamber and said squeeze actuation means comprises compressive deformation of said reservoir resulting in release of said skin treatment material.

25. A device as recited in claim 23 wherein said squeeze actuation means comprises a plunger mechanism.

26. A device as recited in claim 23 wherein said squeeze actuation means comprises a button mechanism.

27. A device as recited in claim 23 wherein said leakage prevention means comprises a check valve mechanism.
